April 2012

Dear Friends,

It gives me great pleasure to offer my warmest wishes to all in the Sikh community on the occasion of Vaisakhi.

The presence of a strong Sikh community enriches our national life and the values at the heart of Sikhism - of equality, justice and caring for the poor and needy are just as important today here in Britain as they were five centuries ago at the birth of Sikhism. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Sikh community here for putting your values into action through the charitable and voluntary work you undertake, helping others in communities up and down the country.

My thoughts are with you as you celebrate Vaisakhi in gurdwaras and homes across this country.

Best wishes to you and your families on this happy occasion,

Rt Hon Ed Miliband MP
Leader of the Labour Party
